HOCKEY WARRIORS CAN STRENGTHEN OSL LEAD ON WEEKEND

Defending Ottawa-St. Lawrence hockey champion, the power-laden Loyola Warriors have a good chance of boosting their league lead this weekend as they face Bishop's University Gaiters and Royal Military College Redmen in the friendly confines of the Loyola rink.

The Warriors, with a 9-1-1 record, go into tonight's contest against Al Grazy's Bishop's skaters with a two-point lead on second place Sir George Williams Georgians. The game is slated for eight o'clock.

With seven league games remaining, the Warriors still must win at least four games to clinch first place. But the way centre Mike Lowe has been scoring goals lately the Warriors appear good bets to repeat as OSL titlists.

Lowe is the hottest scorer in the league of late. He has scored 10 goals in his last four games, including four last weekend when Loyola took a 5-2 decision over Bishop's at Lennoxville and edged Sherbrooke 7-5 in the other game.

"Mike is scoring and he's also starting to check," says Loyola Coach Dave Draper. "He's hungry for that puck and I guess that's another reason he's getting all those goals."

Left winger Danny McCann, who has been out several games with a bad shoulder, may be back in the lineup for the two weekend games.

Tomorrow's game against RMC is scheduled for 2:00 p.m.
